

A map of Wisconsin showing county boundaries and names: MARINETTE, OCONTO, MENOMINEE, SHAWANO, DOOR, OUTAGAMIE, BROWN, KEWAUNEE, WINNEBAGO, MANITOWOC, CALUMET, and SHEBOYGAN. The map is overlaid with a complex network of colored lines (red, blue, purple, green) and various symbols (circles, triangles, squares, and irregular shapes). Some symbols contain numbers. The lines and symbols are distributed across the state, with a high concentration in the central and southern regions. The map appears to be a technical or scientific visualization, possibly related to environmental data or infrastructure planning.
